Free Working Well Together Event High Five Refurbishment

The construction industry has taken huge strides forward in tackling risk and reducing injury rates over recent years but still has a significant opportunity to make our high-hazard industry safer still and to drive down the alarming rates of accident and ill health linked to construction work in particular to Refurbishment projects.

This free half day event will provide self-employed builders and small construction companies with practical up-to-date information, with help and advice.

The information given on the day will help you take action to protect you and your employees' future health, safety and wellbeing.

Topics covered will include: asbestos awareness; dust and face fit testing; Working at Height; Manual Handling; Scaffolding;

The event will consist of talks and demonstrations with the opportunity to ask questions from those within the industry as well as HSE inspector.

Whether you are a self-employed jobbing builder or run a small building company this free event is a must.

Places at this event are limited and it is likely to be highly popular – BOOK NOW!
